Storyline. Since the dawn of civilization, he was worshiped as a god. Apocalypse, the first and most powerful mutant from Marvel's X-Men universe, amassed the powers of many other mutants, becoming immortal and invincible. Upon awakening after thousands of years, he is disillusioned with the world as he finds it and recruits a team of powerful mutants, including a disheartened Magneto, to cleanse mankind and create a new world order, over which he will reign.

X-Men: Apocalypse (2016) - IMDb

Age of Apocalypse has been on my list forever - or at least, since I was introduced to the X-Men. Apocalypse is scary; having read his introduction in the early X-Factor comics and the ensuing havoc he wreaked, I was looking forward to delving into this insane alternate universe.

The Tales from the Age of Apocalypse (Sinister Bloodlines and By the Light) are the high points. They center on Cyclops and Blink, respectively, and tell well thought, engaging stories about how these two fit into the world. The stories are bigger than the individual characters, but those characters provide the main takeaways.

Every few years, I do a complete re-read of X-Men starting with Giant Size and ending with the conclusion of Age of Apocalypse. I have always been pretty steadfast in stopping after AOA and then directly jumping into Morrison's New X-Men when I am in the mood to read "modern" X-Men. I have never really read the material that bridges AOA & New X-Men.
